We ❤️ London. We ❤️ Scrum

Scrum Day London

London is one of the most exciting and vibrant cities in the world and a financial capital at the centre of the World Financial market. London is also home to a vast number of companies using Agile practices and the Scrum process. This event provides a unique opportunity where individuals and organizations gather together to share their stories and network as a community. Scrum is all about people.Our speakers have volunteered to share their story to help others achieve success with their Scrum & Agile journey.

about us

Akaditi is an Agility (Agile) Services, Technology and Events Company Based in London (UK) and Accra (Ghana). We work closely with Scrum.org and a number of global strategic partners.

Scrum Day London is a positive, open platform that seeks to engage new people and people we already know, who are looking to create better ways of working and solving complex problems for themselves and others.

Scrum Day London is a community event, an opportunity to join like-minded people who are ready to improve the world through shared values of community, learning, and service. A great place to network and be part of a network.

Scrum Day London is a powerful one-day conference that features main-stage Inspirational keynote speakers from around the World, workshops (academies) led by top Agile practitioners (experts) from across the private and public sectors, that tackle a range of topics, and also seeks to address many attendee-led issues through Q&As.

We are building a community that will: support you, inspire you, challenge you, help you be the kind of person you want to be, and most importantly, have a ton of fun creating new ideas!
